RAN Writers Association

Chairman's message

April 2004

Volume 1, Issue 3

We have continued to find more 'Lost Souls' in the past few months which all goes well for the Association. BUT there are still a lot more out there waiting to be lead back to the fold, and catch up with their old mates. We have lost a few of our members I am sorry to say. It has become apparent that some of you out there have names of mates that we do not. Please forward their details to us, as soon as you get them so we can write them a letter to explain our set up and send them a copy of The Scribbler. It is important for us to get as many names as we can on the electronic mail out list.

With the coming of the National Naval Reunion 2004, 1-8 August, [www.nationalnavalreunion2004.org.au, check out the site or pen a note off to National Naval Reunion 2004 Inc., PO Box 126 Five Dock NSW 2046] the Sydney crew of Bomber Atkinson and Mark Mobley have agreed to organise a Lunch during the period. The lunch will be on Friday 6th August 2004, commencing 1130 in the City of Sydney RSL Club. THIS IS BEING ORGANISED BY WRITERS FOR WRITERS, SO LETS HAVE A GOOD ROLL UP AND CATCH UP WITH SOME OLD FRIENDS. SPOUSES ARE INVITED. The Adelaide Crew has the 2005 Reunion organisation well in hand for October next year. Geoffrey and I attended a Committee Meeting in Adelaide on 13th February 2004, and came away more than happy with the arrangements in hand. We think it will be a great event. The registration form and costing for each event is enclosed.

Whilst in Adelaide we had the opportunity to have a look at the draft copy of a new book titled – Voyages to Vietnam. This book is an absolute beauty. If you only ever buy one book a year make sure this is it. Geoffrey's wife Colleen and my wife Carmel, both of whom never had any association with the Navy [before they got entangled with us] were enthralled with it. An Order form is enclosed. We will then get a commission on the sale. Please help us raise some much needed funds and buy a copy. Who knows we may even produce one on the Writers Branch – we have the photos! For all you who receive this by Snail Mail – if you come into the 20th century and get yourself a "computer" please let us have your email address. It saves us money. Remember we will always welcome items for the Newsletter – but we also reserve the right to edit the item.

We will also welcome any financial contributions to keep the site going. This is purely voluntary and all donations will be acknowledged. (This newsletter cost $300 and web site $200)

Patron: I read with much confusion rather than amusement regarding the section on the Notice Board re Our Patron RADM K. Scarce. I have had some discussion with my co-chair Geoffrey Hardwick and other members of the Central Committee re the position. We asked Sir James Balderstone AC, if he able to accept the position of patron. (He was a Writer during WW2) He declined due to ill health. He said he was honoured that we had thought of him for the position. I suppose to put the whole thing to bed, I would like to get some sort of advice from you all as to whether {a} we need a patron and {b} if so put forward some names. The committee's choice for the position is for some one who has worn the Gold 'W', but I leave that in your hands.

Hope to catch up with you in Sydney and Adelaide.

Regards

Lew Horsfield

More History of the Writer Branch

Written by Ralph Calder. Eight writers joined the Navy on 15th April, 1935. With passage of time one became a Captain and three became Commanders, two others were killed during the war. One was killed in an accident and one was discharged for reasons I cannot recall.

That so many of an entry of eight progressed to senior rank is remarkable. Probably, due to 1935 being one of the years of the Great Depression when civilian jobs were, to say the least, scarce, accounted for the high standard of entry. Most had their Leaving Certificates which in those days qualified for entry to university.

At this time (1935) Captain S. Trivett thought writer entries should be given some professional training before taking up practical work. He directed Petty Officer Writer John O'Hare to this task and we were given some weeks of training in our jobs which gave us a better understanding of what was expected of us. I am not aware that other classes were given similar instruction. With the outbreak of war it became a case of learn on the job.

In 1946 I was promoted to Warrant Officer and posted to Cerberus as a/Sec. However, on arrival Captain (S) sent for me and said he wanted all new entry Writers to receive professional training before taking up postings and would I look around to find a suitable building which would provide the necessary classrooms. At that time, War having ended, there were plenty of spare buildings around which would suitably fill the purpose. However, the best suited for our purposes were a block of classrooms, then redundant, and available for the setting up of a writer's training school. These were centrally placed in the vicinity of the Drill Hall and had enough spare room for the training of supply assistants as well as writers.

Captain (S.) took the necessary action to secure these rooms for our use and they became the Supply School. Chief C.P.O. Writer E. Rogers was posted to the school as instructor and together we secured the necessary furnishings, desks, blackboards, stationary etc to enable us to take our first new entry class.

Chief C.P.O. Rogers was an excellent instructor and together we worked out a training program. It was decided to keep the training as practical as possible and to this end ledgers were prepared as would happen at the Commissioning of a new ship from transfer lists.

Ships Company were drafted In with their documents, both pay and certificates of service.

Hence pay and captain's offices were set up. Individuals were drafted in and out with the necessary documentation. Some were promoted, demoted, sent to cells and detention for punishment, and some died. In fact, practically anything that could reasonably happen did, and the necessary paper work prepared. We aimed that the training be as practical as possible so that on completion of course trainees would become useful members of ships or captains officers to which they were drafted. In practice we felt this aim was achieved.

Tales– Parramatta 1971 as told by Nick Geyer

Our S.O. at the time (P.M. Mulcare) had a habit of barging in through the door heedless of the fact that someone could be standing in close proximity. Bomber (A.L. Brown) decided to change things one day and locked the bottom half of the door to keep people outside of the office. Mr Mulcare came charging up the passageway one night armed with an armful of documents/files and his coffee perched precariously on top and flew at the door in his usual haste but banged into the lower half of the door while his upper torso continued on into the office, complete with files and coffee. A pretty hasty exit by all and sundry ensued, leaving Mr Mulcare to discuss "matters" with Roscoe Tilney.

The one time that Bomber should've locked the door...he didn't - that was late at night at sea when Bomber and I raided the officer's fridges and had a feed of prawns, Cray, beer (lots) and watermelon. Mr Mulcare was walking around at about 11pm and noticed the lights on so decided to stick his head in and there we were, singing ditties and nissed as pits, but very satisfied with our lot! All he did was grunt and stomped off and we never heard another thing about it.

NSW ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF WRITERS

The 27th Annual Reunion Luncheon will be held on the 2nd Floor of the City of Sydney RSL Club, 561 George Street Sydney on Friday 6th August 2004 commencing with the usual convivial at 1130. The luncheon will commence at approximately 1300 and the cost is $35.00 per head. This, as usual, will include the meal, bread rolls, coffee, wine and orange juice when served at the luncheon table. The meal will again be a set menu served to alternate seats.

It must be stressed that while our luncheon has been timed to coincide with the National Naval Reunion, our function is NOT part of that organization. It was hoped that by rescheduling the luncheon to August, some interstate Scribes who might be visiting Sydney for that event would be able to attend. Please advise any ex or serving Scribe with whom you come in contact that the only way to book and pay for our luncheon is through one of the two contacts listed below. You need not register with the NNR to attend our luncheon and cannot book through them.

For those wishing to register and book for other events or just to browse the program of events the web address is nationalnavalreunion2004.org.au. Please remember that you cannot book for our luncheon through this page.

Please advise of your intention to attend by calling me on one of the numbers listed above or you can contact 'Bomber' on 02 9359 4483 at any time. Leave a message or drop me a line or even an email. Owing to the need to secure firm catering arrangements with the club, we need payment no later than 23rd July. Cheques or Money Orders can be made payable to the 'Sydney Writer's Reunion'.

Both Jim and I have access to Service electronic mail and our addresses are below if you should wish to reply via that media. It is hoped that this will ensure that more serving Writers know about and attend the function this year and hopefully a number of younger Scribes will attend. Hoping to see many of you in August.

First and Only Genuine Honorary Writer.

(Any previous claim to this title is not recognised as the person conferring this honour had not been properly ordained, nor was the ceremony conducted on well watered ground)

Those of you who have served at HMAS Waratah will no doubt remember John Cowan, a civilian clerk who was there since federation, and who worked mainly for Navy doing work that should rightfully have been done by one of the brotherhood. At a recent gentlemen's evening, (had to be, wives present) held in the auspicious surroundings of Bob Collins' carport in beautiful cross-town Kangaroo Flat, to celebrate the meeting of Bob and Bill Grundy, both of whom had recent major surgery, and through a mutual contact had been put in touch, never having met each other during service. John was present at this top drawer gathering, and during the course of the evening it was discovered that he knew more scribes than some Canberra native who had spent his whole life dodging real work in DSP (Writers). A hastily convened tribunal, consisting of the Writers own version of Eddie McGuire, Mr. "into everything" Marty Grogan, the patriarch of all those there, me, and Uncle Doug, who would not participate unless he was chairman, granted Life honorary rank of Writer First Class to John, never to be disgraced or promoted. This was unanimously approved by Bob, Bill, Bob(Dicky) Bird, Wettex, and Marty's brother, Brendan, an ex PO Stoker who came along just to remind us of our social position. Any correspondence on this matter will be held by Bob who has a most enviable record of slam dunking into locker 13.—

SECOND NATIONAL REUNION OF RAN WRITERS

ADELAIDE 2005

Come and join your fellow scribes at the second National Reunion in Adelaide from Friday 30 September to Monday 3 October 2005

Following on from the immensely popular and successful inaugural reunion in Canberra the Crow Eaters have done their best to continue the tradition and standard of Canberra in 2002

The reunion will be based at the popular seaside location of Glenelg, and a full and diverse range of activities has been arranged with a view to achieving the impossible, that is, pleasing everyone.

The concept of these gatherings is to renew old and lasting friendships, forged in far different times, and to enjoy embellishing old stories and even inventing new ones.

The slogan has been adopted after being made aware of the radical and ongoing changes made to both the Service and the Branch. Most of us would be completely lost in today's Ships Office, if in fact one still exists. Some of us can remember keeping a Ledger and saw the transition to the Pay Card and most of us can recall the old paper Service Certificate being replaced by the mysterious "print out". I suppose these days an allotment is made via the Internet. All the more reason to remember

The way we were
